FUNDRAISING IDEAS
BE PART OF TEAM BROOKE TODAY
Dear Supporter,

As you are reading this, 100 million horses, donkeys and mules are hard at work across the globe, supporting an estimated 600 million people. These working equines contribute to hundreds of thousands of household livelihoods, agricultural systems and local economies but, sadly, many of them suffer ill health, exhaustion, dehydration and malnutrition as a direct result of unmanageable workloads, little access to healthcare services, and a lack of awareness and training of local communities.

This is why giving up a little bit of your time to raise money for Brooke is extremely helpful and important to us. Supporters who fundraise enable us to continue carrying out our mission of improving the lives of these working equines.

This booklet is designed to inspire and guide you, and to show you that fundraising does not have to be so daunting. Sift through these pages and trot your way to fundraising success!

On behalf of all of us at team Brooke, thank you for your support and happy fundraising!

SUMMER IDEAS

Barbecue Party Invite your friends and family round for a fundraising barbecue. You could even decorate your garden with Brooke balloons, bunting and posters.

Sports Day Organise a day of fun for your family and friends and fundraise at the same time. It could be set up as part of a school’s normal sports day or could be hosted as a stand-alone event. Charge the athletes a small entry fee for each event, with the winner receiving a prize, and charge an admission fee for the spectators.

Coffee Morning Boost your fundraising with this simple but effective activity by providing refreshments in return for a donation. You could also sell bric-a-brac, and it’s the perfect opportunity to talk about Brooke’s work.

Cream Tea If you’re a baking whizz or even just an enthusiastic beginner, get together with friends and cook up some tasty scones. Invite friends, family and neighbours around and enjoy a great British summer tradition!

Car Wash Ask a local car boot sale if you can set up a car washing service, or ask your neighbours if they would like their cars washed. Gather some friends to help and make it more fun! Before confirming the location be aware not to do this over grass as chemicals could affect the land and infect any animals that might graze over it.

Summer Fête Why not organise a charity fête in your local area? There are lots of ways you can raise money at a fête, from running different attractions to selling food and drink. Or you could approach an existing fête to ask if you can have a stall. We can provide Brooke bunting and balloons to decorate.

Walk for Brooke Host a walk or ramble for friends and family and raise money through donations or sponsorship.

Here are some important things to think about when planning your event. If you follow this pattern you'll be off to a galloping start!

1. What's your vision?
   a) What's your vision? How many attendees would you like to have?
   b) How much money are you hoping to raise?

2. Set your budget
   a) Venue
   b) Catering
   c) Selling tickets (think of selling tickets ahead of the event, that way, even if people drop out, you don’t miss out on the money).

3. Ways of raising more
   Think of extra ways to raise money at your event. Auctions and raffles are great, but can take up some time. There are many other ways to raise money, for example, why not host a table game? Everyone puts in £10 and the winner of the draw keeps half. No prizes to source and often the winner of the cash donates it back anyway.

4. Get your team together
   There is no 'I' in team! You’ll run a more successful and smooth event if you have a team of friends to help. Divide tasks depending on their skillset. Have one person in charge of the guest list and sending invitations, while the other books venue and suppliers, while you stay in charge of the promotion!

5. Where and when
   This is the easy part! Just make sure there are no clashes with any local or national events (like a football world cup match or a royal wedding!) and ideally give people six week’s notice.

6. Get sharing
   Friends and family are the most supportive in these fundraising efforts. Personally email and call all those you would like to attend. The rule of thumb is that people need to be asked three times before confirming. Don’t be shy when chasing people for money for our great cause.
Health and safety
If you’re inviting people to an event you’ll need to make sure all possible risks are reduced. For example, might there be slippery floors if it rains? Will animals be involved? Ask the venue if they have a risk assessment or call us for advice.

Brookify your event
If you need an eye-catching poster for your event, t-shirts, balloons, bunting, collection tins or anything else, please get in touch with us and we’ll be sure to send you a fundraising pack fit to meet your event needs.

Happy hosting
The big day has arrived! Make sure you and your fellow hosts keep up the enthusiasm and welcome guests with a huge smile. An attitude like this is infectious and will get everyone into the giving spirit!

Keep us updated
Keep our friendly Supporter Care Team updated on the success of the event. Ensure you collect the money raised securely and organise with our team how best to send it through to Brooke.

Show your gratitude
Don’t forget to send thank you notes to all those who helped you make your event a success! If you need any tips from us on how to do this and what to include in the ‘Thank you’, just ask! We have detailed descriptions on how Brooke spends funds and can provide further insight into our work.
If you are doing a personal challenge, here are some tips that can boost your fundraising:

1. Get online
   Set up an online fundraising page on JustGiving. Add a photo and story of why you’re supporting Brooke as this will significantly increase the size of donations that people make.

2. Or go old-school
   Don’t worry if you or your friends don’t have access to the internet. You can use paper sponsorship forms. We can send these to you so let us know how many you would like. Please do make sure people fill out their full details if they tick the Gift Aid box.

3. Invest emotion
   It’s been proven that you are more likely to gain support if your campaign is led through emotion and you have a personal attachment to the cause. Ask team Brooke for case studies and stories from the field. We have heaps of documents that will bring emotive content to your personal campaign.

4. Incentivise donors
   Supporters are likely to give more if you illustrate and incentivise their donations. Include a breakdown on your fundraising page of what donations can achieve. For example, £50 could equip a farrier with everything they need to help animals walk more comfortably or £100 could train two saddlers for a day.
   You could also set up a 'special supporters club'. For example, for all those who donate £50+, their name gets printed on your running vest. This way they get special recognition for their generosity.

5. Make it official
   Send a personal email to your family, friends and colleagues with a link to your online fundraising page. Send to people in stages though, asking your most generous friends first so that others feel more inclined to make similar-sized donations!

6. Get social
   Consider writing a blog or documenting your experience via social media. You could build up a bigger following than expected and find that donations come through friends of friends, and even strangers!
Read all about it
Get in touch with your local newspapers and radio stations about your story. They're often interested in what local residents are up to and it's a good way for you to publicise your fundraising. You can speak to our Comms team at Brooke for help and advice on creating a press release or contacting media in your area.

On the day
When it comes to the big day, don't forget to update your supporters with a picture of you before the event, during (a sweaty selfie perhaps?), and after with your medal!

Celebrate and thank
Same as with an event, it’s super important to keep your supporters updated on how much you managed to raise and how that will help Brooke carry out its work. If you keep them interested, they will stay invested! Remember, fundraising deadlines often come weeks after the challenge itself to you will have time to reach your target.

Things to keep in mind

Health and safety
If you’re holding an event, remember to complete a risk assessment to avoid any accidents. Speak to the venue or call us if you’ve got any questions.

Data protection
Make sure any electronic or paper records you keep about people involved in a fundraising event comply with the Data Protection Act. As a rule of thumb, don't keep information about people any longer than you need to, and don't share their information or data without their permission. For further details about our Data Protection policy please refer to our Privacy Policy on our website.

Raffles and lotteries
Raffles, lotteries and prize draws are all governed by legislation. Before holding one and spending money on getting tickets printed, please contact our Supporter Care Team to find out what the rules are.
There are several ways to send your fundraising to Brooke:

Online
All fundraising from JustGiving and Virgin Money Giving are automatically sent to Brooke so there’s nothing more for you to do. You can pay any ‘offline’ fundraising donations into your online page or send it to us through one of the methods below.

Brooke website
Visit www.thebrooke.org and make a 'one off donation', selecting the relevant option from the dropdown menu.

By post
Send a cheque made payable to 'Brooke' to our London Head Office. Please remember to include your contact details so we know it’s from you!

Telephone
Call us on 020 7470 9393 to make a donation with your debit or credit card.

Bank transfer
Please call us on 020 7470 9393 or email community@thebrooke.org for our bank details.

Remember!
Please do not send any cash in the post.
Send us your sponsorship forms so that we can claim Gift Aid on any eligible donations. That means we can claim an extra 25% on all donations, at no extra cost to you or your sponsors!

Thank you for supporting Brooke this year!
